

0 of 8 cells: no learned triage policy is both cheaper and no worse than always-cheapest

Read with care: only 1 of 8 RETROSPECTIVE oracle points reach the region either. Always-cheapest is the cost floor, so any policy that preserves success must cost more — the negative result is about the trade-off being unfavourable, not about the learner alone.

